Bill Aids Coast Guard on Oil Spills

By STAN BENJAMIN
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon proposed to Congress today legislation to strengthen the authority of the Coast Guard in protecting against oil spills.

He also requested ratification of three international agreements to combat oil pollution in international waters and said he would seek a $35 million appropriation to establish an already authorized revolving fund to clean up of oil spills.

The proposals were outlined in a 10-point message to Congress in which the President noted that increased shipping has greatly increased the danger of oil spills and their threat to the marine environment.

Nixon proposed a Ports and Waterways Safety Act of 1970, allowing the Coast Guard to "control vessel traffic in the inland waters and the territorial seas of the United States."

It would also empower the Coast Guard to regulate handling and storage of dangerous cargoes on the waterfront, to set safety requirements for waterfront equipment and facilities, and to establish safety zones or other "controlled access areas" in and near U.S. ports.

Nixon also urged the ratification of two new international conventions developed in Brussels last year under the auspices of the Intergovernmental Maritime Consultative Organization, an agency of the United Nations.

One convention would empower nations to take preventive action against vessels on the high seas which pose an imminent pollution threat to national coastlines.

The other would impose a strict civil liability upon the owners of vessels causing coastal pollution regardless where the vessel is at the time.

Nixon asked Congress to bring U.S. legislation into conformity with the convention if necessary.

He urged ratification, as well, of amendments to the 1954 Convention for the Prevention of Pollution of the Sea by Oil, which would set international controls on discharge of oil on the high seas and prohibit its discharge within 50 miles of the coast.

He said the amendments still require ratification by other nations but that he is directing U.S. authorities to apply them to U.S. vessels as soon as Congress enacts the implementing legislation.

Nixon said he is also instructing the secretary of state to seek international standards for construction and operation of tankers.

$290 Million for Super Air Transport

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House Appropriations Committee today approved an additional $290 million for continued development of a civil supersonic transport aircraft.

It also included in a $7 billion omnibus appropriation bill funds to employ 2,265 new air traffic personnel.

The bill, scheduled for House action next week, provides financing for fiscal year 1971 for the Department of Transportation and related agencies. The amount is $113 million less than the administration requested but $380 million more than was appropriated for the current year ending June 30.

The bill's total included $4.4 billion to liquidate contracts made in past years.

Cold Front Moving Into Arkansas

A cold front now centered in the Central Rockies will move into Arkansas on the heels of a high pressure system now controlling the state, bringing with it relief from the hot temperatures with possibilities of showers.

The U. S. Weather Bureau is predicting fair skies for most of the state tonight, except for the southern portion where the threat of showers exists.

Friday the forecast is for partly cloudy skies with widely scattered thundershowers. Some showers are expected to develop across the entire state this weekend.

SPEAKER

ter more on the part of the young than of people like me," he said. "In legislative matters I am still looking 10 years ahead."

A man who shares this outlook, McCormack told the reporters, is Albert. "While I will not be a member of the new Congress," he said, "if I were, I would have great pleasure in voting for Carl Albert for speaker."

If Albert seems destined to follow the long line of notables that have run the House, McCormack's retirement is expected to set off a donnybrook for the Democratic floor leader's spot now held by the Oklahoma man.

Half a dozen contenders are thought possible for Albert's No. 2 job, with Arizona Rep. Morris K. Udall making the first formal announcement he will bid for the spot.

Udall, who lost a symbolic race against McCormack last year for speaker, probably will be opposed by Louisiana's Hale Boggs, now the party whip and third in line in the present Democratic leadership.

Others mentioned include James G. O'Hara of Michigan, Dan Rostenkowski of Illinois, Richard M. Bolling of Missouri, Edward P. Bolland of Massachusetts, James C. Corman of California and Jack Brooks of Texas.

$500 MILLION

Ronald L. Ziegler confirmed Wednesday afternoon the full $500 million appropriation will be requested from Congress, even though it might add to the projected budget deficit for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1971.

The President had said initially the sum would be extracted from other domestic programs and not change overall budget figures.

The final spending formula runs counter to earlier reports that over half the special fund would go to improve the academic environment in segregated schools.

About one-third of the $500 million will be reserved for the HEW secretary to fund particularly innovative or meritorious experiments in integration or interracial experiences, sources said. Much of this is expected to go to Southern schools under particularly rigorous court-ordered desegregation plans.

Special Day at the First Baptist Church

Two events will highlight Sunday, May 24, at the First Baptist Church. The Church will break ground for their new educational complex following the 10:45 a.m. worship service, according to Rev. Gerald W. Trussell, Pastor of the Church. This will be a momentous occasion for the church and the community, and the public is invited to attend.

All 1970 Graduating Seniors will be honored with a Senior Breakfast at 8:15 a.m., and will be given recognition at the 9:30 a.m. Worship Hour where they will have a section reserved for Bro. Trussell will be bringing a baccalaureate address at this hour.

Obituaries

BENJAMIN R. SMITH

Benjamin R. Smith, 71, died early Thursday in a Shreveport Veterans hospital. He was a resident of Hope, member of Calvary Baptist Church, veteran of World War II and a 30 year employee of Gulf Oil Company.

Survivors include his wife, Lillie; three sisters, Mrs. Annie Bratcher of Prescott, Mrs. Stella Hall of Texarkana and Mrs. Lena Sallee of Okolona, several nieces and nephews.

Funeral services will be held at 2 p.m. Saturday in Oakcrest Chapel with Rev. Thomas Simmons officiating. Burial will be in Memory Gardens under the direction of Oakcrest Mortuary of Hope.

Protest March Nears Atlanta

MACON, Ga. (AP) — A band of about 250 protesters against racial repression and war—most of them young Negroes—continues today on a journey toward Atlanta, where they hope to join with thousands of others in rallies Saturday.

The marchers, led by the Rev. Ralph David Abernathy, head of the Southern Christian Leadership Conference, arrived on the second leg of their 120-mile trek Wednesday night without incident.

Abernathy was at the reins of a mule-drawn wagon. He led the way to a church, where the marchers ate and were joined by local townspeople for a rally.

"We're here tonight because there's sickness in the land... America is on its death bed," Abernathy told them. He said the nation is being consumed by the "cancer of racism, poverty, war and repression."

The group walked only about eight of the 28 miles from Fort Valley, where the march was delayed in setting out Wednesday morning. Because of the delay and the hot sun the marchers boarded buses and trucks for the rest of the day's trip.

The climax of the march is scheduled Saturday, when rallies are planned at Atlanta's Ebenezer Baptist Church—where the late Dr. Martin Luther King Jr., SCLC founder, was co-pastor with his father—and at Morehouse College.

SUNDAY, MAY 24

Sunday, May 24, there will be a homecoming at the Union Baptist Church near Bodcaw with the morning services beginning with the devotion by the Pastor. The message will be brought by Bro. Bobby Joe Wright in the evening at 1:30 p.m. Plenty of good singing and everyone is invited to come.

Beginning at Union Baptist Church May 25-30 there will be revival services beginning in the morning at 10:00 a.m. and in the evening at 7:30 p.m. Bro. Hollis Dillard will do the preaching. Everyone is invited.

MONDAY, MAY 25

The daytime TOPS (Take off pounds sensibly) Club will meet Monday, May 25 at 11 a.m. for a low calorie pot-luck luncheon at Fair Park. All members are urged to attend and bring a gift. Any person interested in joining call 777-4464.

TUESDAY, MAY 26

The Jett B. Graves Class of the First United Methodist Church will have a potluck supper at the church on Tuesday, May 26 at 7 p.m. Hostesses are Mesdames R.L. McCain, C.P. Munn, Horace Stone, Ben Edmiston, Velma Cox, and E.W. Cope-land.

Chapter AE, P.E.O., will meet at 2 p.m. Tuesday, May 26 in the home of Mrs. F.M. Horton.

WEDNESDAY, MAY 27

Hope Junior Auxiliary will meet Wednesday, May 27, 10 a.m. at the Chamber of Commerce office. Executive board will meet at 9:30.

THURSDAY, MAY 28

The Cosmopolitan Club will meet Thursday, May 28 at 7:45 p.m. in the home of Mrs. S.A. Whitlow with Mrs. Thomas Hays, co-hostess. Please note the change in meeting dates.

BRIDE-ELECT HONORED

Miss Amelia Gaines, bride-elect of James Mitchell McDonald, was attired in blue with a white carnation corsage, when she has honored with a shower Saturday, May 16 in the home of Mrs. Carlton King. Other hostesses were Mrs. Dayton Thomas, Miss Sue King and Mrs. Reese Chambliss.

The mothers of the engaged couple, Mrs. Barney Gaines and Mrs. Ross McDonald of Benton, also received white carnation corsages. While the honoree opened her many lovely and useful gifts, the guests wrote out their favorite recipes which were placed in a recipe file prepared by the hostesses.

A wagon covered with ruffles held the gifts and was topped with an umbrella designed to match the serving table. A blue cloth overlaid with white net was used on the table, which was centered with magnolia buds and blue candles. Guests were served cake, nuts and punch, and about 22 attended.

BRIDGE CLUB MEETS

Five tables of players met at the Diamond on Monday, May 18 for the Hope Duplicate Bridge Club. Winning couples were: first Mrs. Harry Hawthorne and Mrs. Marie Hendrix; second, Mrs. Lloyd Spencer and Mrs. George Robison; third, Mrs. E.J. Whitman and Mrs. R.L. Broach.

PARTY FOR BROOKWOOD GROUP

On Monday, May 18 at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Jewell Moore, Jr. a party was held for the 14 seniors at Hope High who began their education at Brookwood School in September 1957. They are: Debbie Moore, Doug Rogers, Judy Pettit, Belinda Butler, David Still, Gary Hollis, Linda Wray, Ralph Routon, Sandra Starkey, Lamar Cox, Becky Wal-

MISS RUTH ALICE EDWARDS

The engagement of Miss Ruth Alice Edwards to Thomas Carl Sumner III is announced by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. B.W. Edwards. Mr. Sumner is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Carl Sumner, Jr.

The bride-elect is a 1970 graduate of Hope High School and the groom-elect is a 1968 graduate of Hope High. The wedding will be May 29 at 7 p.m. in the First United Methodist Church of Hope. No cards will be sent. All friends and relatives are invited.

ton, Susan Turner, John Spraggins and Bruce McRae.

The Brookwood principal, Mrs. Elmer Brown, and the first grade teacher, Mrs. Horace Fuller, attended, and with the students, enjoyed films of the class taken during activities such as Easter Egg Hunts and May Day Festivals. On May Day 1959 the Queen was Sharon Evans, who a number of years later became Miss Arkansas, and the King was Phil DeVecchio, so the pictures had additional interest for the viewers.

From a table decorated with a globe and boy and girl graduate dolls, chips 'n' dips and cold drinks were served. Each of the seniors received a gift from the hosts.

BROWNIE TROOP MEETS

Tuesday night, May 12 at the Douglas Building, the following girls from Brownie Troop 63 "New up" to Junior Troop 282: Lorie Ferrand, Kathy Martin, Susan Tolleson, Debbie Biddle, Connie Sewell, Cecilia Bearden, and Wanda Stone.

The impressive ceremony included "crossing the bridge" into Junior Scouting with Mrs. Roger Fletcher welcoming the girls, who repeated the Girl Scout Promise, the 10 Laws, and the G.S. Slogan.

Other girls from Troop 63 taking part were Yvonne Fry, Stephanie Hatfield, Tamara Cornelius, Denise May, Sydney Tye, Dana Pettit, Donna Griffin, Diana Dunn, and Mrs. Hildred May, leader.

Participating from Troop 282 were Anita Allen, Cindy Arnette, Tammy Bain, Margie Bright, Dana Cox, Karen Cox, Tammy Dougan, Nancy Hampton, Lisa Lee, Kay McHenry, Robin McLeland, Pamela Noel, Dena Pletcher, Sharon Rowe, Cathy Smith, Terri Tippet, Melissa Whitely, Darleen Varble, and Mrs. Roger

Pletcher, leader, and Mrs. Wayne Whitley, assistant leader. At the social hour which followed the ceremony, refreshments were served to 64.

Coming, Going

Pupils of Mrs. R.L. Gosnell who will play in the National Piano Auditions on May 22 in Texarkana are: Marynell Branch, Jan Burns, Cecilia Bearden, Debbie Gideon, Jolyn Herndon, Joy Hirabayashi, Anita Hoggard, Sandra McFarland, Jenna Sue Price, and David Sitzes.

Mrs. B.C. Hyatt has returned from visits in Perryville with the Ben Hyatts and in Jonesboro with the Charles Hyatts. While in Jonesboro she attended the performance of "South Pacific" by the Hurricane Choir and heard the operas, "Cavalleria Rusticana" and "Pagliacci" by the Metropolitan Opera Company in Memphis.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert C. Walker and children of Lubbock, Texas have returned home after a visit with Mrs. Pauline D. Walker, Miss Sue Wesson and other relatives.

Television and Radio

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Television-Radio Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — There was a feast Wednesday night in the midst of the summer television famine. There were so many special programs on the networks that they overlapped each other.

The evening opened and closed on serious notes. NBC presented a somewhat rambling and leisurely 90 minutes examining some of the sore spots in our educational system. ABC closed it with the third and last of its "Mission: Possible" series on environmental pollution.

In between there was a brief and brash special on ABC in which the Canadian comedy team of Wayne and Shuster pulled together a half hour of sight gags, blackouts and general nonsense on the subject of love through the ages. Then NBC's "Music Hall" launched its summer variety series starring British performer Des O'Connor.

"Give Us the Children" explored some reasons that children dislike school and do poorly as students. One educator complained that too many public schools function like factories with "little ticky-tacky people coming out one end."

The program also pointed out the difference in the quality of education received by students of "inner city" schools and those in more affluent areas. One school official said that out of 400 slum students examined by a dentist, 300 had serious tooth troubles and that few children ever had their eyes examined.

"If your face is sore and your eyes hurt, you can't study. And the heart of the matter is that if you can't read, you can't learn."

A major portion of the program was devoted to experiments in learning, including schools where children are encouraged to follow their own interests instead of an inflexible curriculum.

"Mission: Possible" went over the now familiar grounds of the deadly destruction of our environment with the usual assortment of experts giving learned opinions and scary warnings of emergency. When the cost was mentioned it was in the billions. The gist of the program seemed to be that it is a public emergency and that if anything is done, the public will pay for it in higher taxes and with higher prices. Meanwhile each individual should keep nagging and agitating so that something really will be done.

England's Des O'Connor, a new face on American TV screens, is a personable fellow with a pleasant singing voice and an eagerness to please. "Music Hall's" comedy sketches were more or less fell apart and were rather primitive and not very funny. The series is made in London, but the guest stars were American exports including Liberace, and they all did the same sort of thing they always do on the Hollywood-made variety hours. It was light summer entertainment with emphasis on the light.

Dick Drake of Little Rock said he did not think that the platform and resolutions adopted at the convention were indicative of the true feelings of the majority of Young Republicans or the young people of the state who identify with the league.

The league adopted resolutions urging the General Assembly to legalize abortions in certified hospitals, legalizing and taxing gambling and repealing laws regarding sexual activity between consenting adults.

The league also urged further study before legalizing marijuana and pending the study, called for a reduction in the penalty for possessing, selling and using marijuana from a felony to a misdemeanor.

Drake said the platform and resolutions were allowed to pass by the making of "political deals" in order for a certain segment of the delegates present to control the election of certain officers.

Lengthy Session
The Democratic convention of 1924 was the longest U.S. nominating convention on record. In session 14 days, 103 ballots were required before a presidential candidate was agreed upon. John W. Davis of West Virginia won the nomination on the 103rd ballot.

ALWAYS THE FALL GUY

Dear Helen: It's bad enough that I'm always blamed at home.

When Dad loses a tool he yells at me to stay out of his workshop. If a neighbor brings it back next day or he finds it where he misplaced it, he never says he's sorry. Just, "Well, that was the chewing out you'll deserve next time."

When us kids get noisy, I'm the one my folks jump on, even if I was just listening. I'll bet if a bomb dropped in our yard, Mom would scream, "Tom, what are you up to NOW?"

Well, I'm used to this. I can take it. But at the park too? Some of the guys and I were tossing around my Frisbie, when a raunchy little kid comes along and throws it in the lake. The sign says "No wading," so I chuck rocks out beyond the Frisbie so the waves will wash it to shore. A duck gets in the way.

You guessed it. The park police nail me for duck-molesting. My parents are notified, and I'm the bad guy again.—Noboby believes me.

Why am I always the one who gets the shaft?—HARD LUCK TOM

Dear Tom: It isn't fair, but there's a "fall guy" in almost every family—one who gets more than his share of blame because (perhaps) his voice carries over the others' noise; or he acts before he thinks, so people expect and suspect bad things of him, even when he's innocent; or he's acquired a "label" which families are extra-good at attaching.

Like: "Nancy's the brain," "Ben inherited his grandfather's temper," "Sue is the 'born home-maker'."—"Tom means trouble with a capital 'T'."

So...you're accused of everything from misplacing tools to cold-decking a duck, and the only way you'll change your image is to prove you've outgrown it. That won't take as long as you think, if you'll start a discussion about "labels" at the dinner table. You might even produce this column for starters.—H.

Dear Helen: That "Big Brother" who is so smug about short-skirted girls and how easy they are! I suppose he and his pals have a yardstick: Knee length dresses, dull; two inches higher, so-so; nine inches above the knee: It's good times night. And that bit: "Would you want your sister wearing minis?" Talk about double standards! I'm glad all guys don't see females as conquests instead of human beings.

None of the boys I know make dirty remarks about skirt lengths any more unless the girl herself deserves the remarks. A modified mini, which is what we all wear, is such a commonplace sight that it doesn't give males any more ideas than they normally have—and that depends on the individual male.—MINIS FOREVER

P.S. How is the "Down with Midi-skirts" vote coming, Helen?—M.F.

Dear M.F.: Help! I'm drowning in a sea of postcards!—H.

Dear Helen: I'm stationed with the 27th Engineer Bn. in Vietnam. Some of us guys get very little mail, and we'd surely appreciate hearing from anyone who would write. I'll pass the letters around to my buddies. Please write to: SP-5 Timmy M. Tarte, HHC 27th Engr. Bn. (c), APO San Francisco, 96308.

Jonesboro Votes for U.S. Housing

JONESBORO, Ark. (AP) — Jonesboro residents voted Tuesday in favor of the construction of a 450-unit low-rent housing project. The vote was 717 for and 185 against.

The federal government will finance the project, which is estimated to cost $5 million. A spokesman said construction would not begin for another year.

Rhubarb leaves should never be eaten since they are sometimes poisonous, according to Encyclopaedia Britannica.

Pirates Nip Phils on Wild Pitches

By HAL BOCK

Associated Press Sports Writer

If you needed a word for Pittsburgh's victory over Philadelphia Wednesday night, it would be wild, simply wild.

That's what Dick Selma was in the 14th inning and that's why the Pirates nipped the Phillies 3-2. Two wild pitches by Selma permitted Matty Alou to circle the bases with the winning run to break up the extra inning game.

"I don't think," said Selma later, "it's such a bad way to lose a ball game." It was not, however, a very good way to lose one.

Elsewhere in the National League Wednesday, Montreal shut out New York 2-0, St. Louis edged Houston 3-2, Atlanta whipped San Francisco 6-1 in 11 innings and San Diego defeated Los Angeles 10-4. Cincinnati and Chicago had the day off.

In the American League, it was Minnesota 10, Kansas City 5; Chicago 3, California 2; Detroit 4, Baltimore 0; Cleveland 7, Boston 2; Washington 2, New York 0; and Milwaukee 8, Oakland 7.

Alou reached base in the 14th on a two-out single through the middle—his fourth hit of the game—and, if you ask Selma, the root of all his trouble.

"Typical Pittsburgh hit on a hard infield," moaned the reliever. "I would have gotten that ball in our park and most other parks."

Not so, argued Alou. "Right now," said Matty, "this is the slowest infield in the league because the grass is so high."

Selma, who was working his fifth inning, claimed he just tired out after that. His first wild pitch rolled a few feet from home plate and Alou stopped at second. The next one bounded all the way to the backstop and then high in the air as the Pirate runner scooted home.

Tom Seaver was beaten by Montreal for the second time in 10 days and again on a three-hit shutout. This time, Carl Morton did the job on the Mets, matching the three-hitter that Dan McGinn threw to beat Seaver in New York last week. Morton struck out 10.

Seaver also allowed just three hits and fanned 10 but two of the hits by Ron Fairly and Jim Fairry followed a pair of walks in the fourth inning and drove in the runs for the Expos.

Richie Allen cracked two doubles and a single and Chuck Taylor weaved his way out of a ninth inning jam to save St. Louis' victory over Houston.

Mike Torrez was leading 3-1 and working on a five-inning when he walked the leadoff batter in the Astro ninth. Taylor relieved and an error and a single narrowed the Cards' lead to one run. But Taylor retired the next three hitters to nail down the victory.

Rico Carty rocketed a three-run homer in the 11th inning, breaking a tie and moving Atlanta past San Francisco. It was the 10th of the year for Carty, who leads the NL with a .422 batting average.

The homer was Carty's third hit of the game, following a triple and double and beat Gaylord Perry. Hoyt Wilhelm was the winner.

Nate Colbert and Al Ferrara rifled home runs as San Diego clubbed Los Angeles.

Pat Dobson protected the victory for Dave Roberts with four strong innings of relief after the Padres had jumped off to an early 6-0 lead. Colbert's two-run homer was his 13th of the year.

Kurland Named Director of Hall of Fame

SPRINGFIELD, Mass. (AP)

Bob Kurland, one of the earliest electees to the National Basketball Hall of Fame, is one of eight new members named today to the hall's board of directors.

Kurland, the former Oklahoma State star, was enshrined in the hall in 1961.

Joining him as new directors are Eddie Gottlieb, former owner of the Philadelphia Warriors; college coaches Steve Belko of Oregon; Fred Taylor of Ohio State and Joe Vancian of Yale; and businessman Paul Collins, Grady Lewis and R. Haskell Hillyard.

Sudden Sam Satisfies Manager

By TOM SALADINO

Associated Press Sports Writer

Sam McDowell's recipe might not be appealing to the average home-maker but it certainly satisfied his manager and definitely cooked the Boston Red Sox.

Sudden Sam, the Cleveland Indians' fireballing left-hander, reputed to be one of the hardest throwers in baseball, mixed his fastball with an assortment of ingredients which included a tantalizing slow curve, slider and change up "to keep them off balance," he said.

The southpaw, who leads the American League in strikeouts with 89 after fanning 10 Red Sox Wednesday night, limited the sluggers from Boston to four hits in the Indians' 7-2 victory, stemming Cleveland's string of losses at three.

In other AL action, Detroit blanked Baltimore 4-0 on Mickey Lolich's three-hitter, snapping the Tigers' slide at six games; Milwaukee nipped Oakland 8-7; Minnesota routed Kansas City 10-5; Chicago topped California 3-2; and Washington stopped New York 2-0.

In the National League, Montreal shut out New York 2-0, Pittsburgh edged Philadelphia 3-2 in 14 innings, St. Louis got by Houston 3-2, Atlanta ripped San Francisco 6-1 and San Diego trounced Los Angeles 10-4.

"It was one of the finest games I've seen anybody pitch, anywhere," said a happy Alvin Dark, the Indians' skipper.

Reggie Smith, an unhappy Red Soxer, who slugged a solo homer off the 6-foot-4 McDowell in the fifth inning, had another thought: "The mistake we made was letting him off the hook in the first inning."

McDowell, 6-3, was reached for Boston's first run in that frame and had the bases loaded before putting down the threat.

The big left-hander, who has led the AL in strikeouts in four of the last five seasons, added to his cause, stroking two hits, including a seven-inning run-scoring single which snapped a 2-2 tie.

The Indians then sewed up the triumph in the eighth with a four-run inning, keyed by Tony Horton's two-run homer. Duke Sims also drilled a two-run blast in the fourth off loser Sonny Siebert, 3-2.

Lolich, the veteran Detroit southpaw, struck out nine while shutting out the Orioles, their first blanking in 36 games.

Lolich, 29, picked up his fifth victory of the season against four losses and increased his strikeout totals to 76, second to McDowell.

It was Lolich's 24th-career blanking and was only the Tigers' fourth victory in 16 games. The Orioles have only lost three times in their last 14.

The Tigers got a pair of runs in the sixth off loser Tom Phoebus, 3-2, on run-scoring singles by Al Kaline and Willie Horton and got a two-run homer from Jim Northrup in the eighth.

Hank Allen's run-scoring double knocked in Steve Hovley, who had singled in the ninth off A's reliever Rollie Fingers, moving the Brewers into fifth place in the West and out of the basement for the first time since April 16.

Tommy Harper had a solo homer for the winners while Don Mincher drove in three runs for the A's with a double and home run.

The Twins belted the Royals into the West cellar, riding the hot streak of torrid Rod Carew, the Minnesota second baseman and defending AL batting champion, hit for the cycle—single, double, triple and game-breaking three-run homer, sending the Twins to their seventh consecutive victory.

Carew, the first player in the 10-year history of Minnesota to collect the cycle, raised his AL leading average to .432. In the Twins' winning streak, Carew has blazed at a .625 pace on 20 hits in 32 trips to the plate.

The Twins also got homers from Leo Cardenas, Rich Reese and Paul Ratliff. Amos Otis and Joe Keogh had roundtrippers for the Royals.

Gail Hopkins' bases-loaded rifice fly in the ninth inning gave the White Sox their victory, capping a three-run inning.

Punch hitter Bill Christian had tied the game at 2-2 with a two-run homer earlier in the inning. The Angels had scored both runs in the top half of the inning.

Washington scored a pair of unearned runs in the fourth inning without benefit of a hit and stopped the Yankees behind the four-hit pitching of Dick Bosman, 4-3, and reliever Darold Knowles.

$387,000 Paid to Flood in 12 Years

By MIKE RATHET

Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — In his 12-year career with the St. Louis Cardinals Curt Flood was paid $387,000 in salary—an average of more than $32,000 a year—while reaching a peak of $90,000 his last season before bringing suit against baseball.

Those financial figures are part of the trial record in Flood's suit against baseball in which he is challenging the sport's reserve system on the basis that it is restrictive and, therefore, in restraint of trade.

Flood, and his attorneys, are asking for relief from the system, which prohibits a player from selling his services to the highest bidder; and which makes him negotiate only with the club for which he is playing.

The first day's testimony in the trial which resumed today after a one-day recess provided a rare opportunity to look at the salary progression of one of baseball's legitimate stars within the framework of the controversial system.

Here is a table, put together from testimony, that shows the years Flood was with the Cardinals, his batting average for each year, his salary for that year and the raise he received going into that year for his previous seasons' efforts:

Year	Avg.	Salary	Raise
1958	.261	$5,000
1959	.255	$10,000	$5,000
1960	.237	$10,500	$500
1961	.322	$12,500	$2,000
1962	.296	$16,000	$3,500
1963	.302	$17,500	$1,500
1964	.311	$23,000	$5,500
1965	.310	$35,000	$12,000
1966	.37	$45,000	$10,000
1967	.335	$50,000	$5,000
1968	.301	$72,500	$22,500
1969	.285	$90,000	$17,500

In addition it should be pointed out that Flood also received a $2,000 bonus in 1959 and 1960 for signing his contract and collected an additional $24,015.71 for playing in three World Series.

The Phillies, who acquired the rights to Flood in the trade that provoked the suit, offered a contract for the 1970 season, according to Flood, for "a little more than $90,000" in salary plus approximately $8,000 in spring training expenses, a package in the neighborhood of $100,000.

One of the chief proponents of Flood's cause in instituting suit, Marvin Miller of the Major League Players' Association has said that the issue of Flood's salary is irrelevant.

"There is," Miller has pointed out, "principle involved. To assume that everything is okay if the price is right is a system I don't buy."

"I think there are more important things in this world than money."

Greene Says He'll Win Tourney Yet

By BOB GREEN

Associated Press Golf Writer

ATLANTA (AP)—"I blew one tournament this year," Bert Greene said, "but that's to be expected out here."

"But I'll win one yet," Greene, a native of Gray, Ga., now playing out of Sun River, Ore., was one of the hometown favorites today in the first round of the $125,000 Atlanta Golf Classic.

And Greene, a non-winner on the PGA tour but generally considered one of the most promising young stars, must be rated more than a casual threat for the $25,000 top prize.

"I'm playing pretty good," he said, "but my putting is just awful. But that comes and goes. Maybe, just maybe, I can get it going this week."

Greene, winner of more than $25,000 this year, is the son of a retired golf pro, Herb Greene, and is in his fourth year on the pro tour. He's a slim blond with a receding hairline and despite his slight build is one of the hardest hitters on the pro circuit.

Greene, 26, made over $76,000 last year and got his first big national exposure when he lost by a shot to Frank Beard in the wealthy Westchester Open. He got still more exposure—again in a losing effort—a couple of weeks ago in the Houston International.

The drawling, talkative player held a lead going into the final two holes, but pumped his second shot into the water on the 17th, took a double bogey and was out of it, finishing third.

"I'd been working with Arnold Palmer on just that," he said. "We were working on what you have to do to be dead certain you hit it straight."

"The first person I ran into here was Palmer, out in the parking lot."

"He said he had watched on television, saw me hit the shot and said 'he's done it again.'"

"I think you've still got some work to do," he told me. Greene, who rarely takes a week off the grinding tour, usually goes fishing on Mondays and Tuesdays, his program this week.

"You can't play every day," he said. "So I try to take a couple of days off. I don't like to take a week off, though. I sit at home and look at the paper and see all the money the other guys are making and it just kills me."

But Greene is going to be away next week.

"I've got to go to Brazil for a tournament, the Brazilian International I think it is," he said. "I really didn't want to go, but my business manager had committed me."

"I wanted to get out, but he said we couldn't," Greene won the Los Lagartos Open, in Colombia, not a regular PGA event, earlier this year, beating South American favorite Roberto de Vicenzo.

"He told me that after I beat Roberto down there, if I don't come back there might be a revolution, so I guess I'd better go."

Arnold Palmer, Jack Nicklaus and Gary Player ranked as the men to beat in the test on the 7,053 yard, par 72 Atlanta Country Club course. Other top contenders included Frank Beard, defending champion Bert Yancey, British Open champ Tony Jacklin and Romero Blancas, winner of last week's Colonial National Invitation.

Billy Casper and Lee Trevino are taking the week off.

Solunar Tables

The schedule of Solunar Periods, as printed below, has been taken from Richard Alden Knight's SOLUNAR TABLES. Plan your days so that you will be fishing in good territory or hunting in good cover during these times, if you wish to find the best sport that each day has to offer.

		A.M.	P.M.

Younger Men Taking Over in Pro Golf

By BOB GREEN
 Associated Press Golf Writer
 ATLANTA (AP) — They come out by the scores, the strong young men lured to the pro golf tour by the financial successes of the Palmers, Nicklaus, Caspers and Players. They're attracted by the big money and successes of such players as Gibby Gilbert, Mike Hill, Tom Shaw, Bunky Henry, young men who break through to their first tour victories. There were 12 first time winners in 1969.
 But for every Gibby Gilbert who storms out of obscurity there are literally hundreds of others who never make a check, who rarely even get a chance to compete for the big money on the fantastically successful pro circuit.
 It's a tough, demanding, frustrating fight for existence. There are about 250-300 players on the tour on a regular basis. The routine open tournament has a field of 144. That is cut to a low 70 scorers and ties for 70th position after two rounds and only those survivors make money.
 "The kids say it costs about $300 a week for expenses out here," said Jack Nicklaus. "There's about 200 of them a week who don't make money. Now maybe my arithmetic is wrong, but I make it there's about 60,000 a week that's being spent somewhere.
 Various suggestions have been made on methods to ease the situation, the institution of two tours is one idea. But there are problems involved there, too. Let's say you have two $100,000 tournaments. Event A draws Arnold Palmer, Jack Nicklaus, Gary Player, Billy Casper and Lee Trevino. So how is the sponsor of event B going to feel?
 Another suggestion, the one drawing the most consideration and controversy, is an invitational-satellite set-up, quite possibly as early as next year. But even this has attracted considerable fire from the young players, the ones who face weekly qualifying events.
 An invitational event differs from an open in that the field is restricted, usually to about 100 players. There is no qualifying. The sponsors set up their own qualifications and generally draw just about the players they want—the cream of the crop.
 Under the proposed invitational-satellite program, some 20 invitational events would be scheduled each year. Opposite each of these $100,000-up invitational events would be a satellite tournament with a price tag of at least $35,000.
 At the moment there are only four such invitations on the schedule. Any sponsor wishing to make his tournament an invitational must provide money and facilities for a $35,000 satellite.
 But the qualifying players object, on two principal points—lack of opportunity to gain points toward an exemption and lack of attraction for a financial sponsor.
 "Look," said John Levinson, "I go to a potential sponsor, a guy who's going to give me $20,000 a year expenses, and I tell him there's 42 tournaments a year out here with at least $100,000 a week up for grabs. Now when he hears figures like that, well, he figures he's got a good chance getting his money back."
 "But if I tell him I'm going to be playing for $35,000 a week, well, he's going to think a long time about that."
 The other objection is on the point system that has gone into effect this year, replacing money as the method for determining the top 60 who will be exempt from qualifying.
 On tour a player receives

Travelers Snap Streak, Beat Sports

SHREVEPORT, La. (AP) — The Arkansas Travelers presented manager Ken Boyer with a 39th birthday present here Wednesday night as they snapped Shreveport's three-game winning streak with a 3-1 Texas League victory.
 The Travelers took a 2-0 lead in the fourth when Braves' starter and loser Ron Schueler walked the first two men, Wayne Dees' single knocked across one run with a single and another scored on a force out.
 Arkansas added an insurance run in the eighth off relief pitcher Jim Britton when Charlie Stewart reached on an error and came around on a single by Rocky Thompson and a double by Jose Cruz.
 Britton struck out five batters in two innings. The lone Brave run came in the fourth when Santiago Rosairo slammed a 340-foot homer, his first of the year, 120 points for a first place finish, 90 for second, 85 for third and on down to 1 for 70th. But tournaments of lesser value are scaled down. For instance, in a $35,000 tournament, a player receives only 35 per cent of the $100,000 scale. In a $50,000 tournament, he receives 50 per cent.
 "If we're going to be playing in $35,000 tournaments all year, we've got only 35 per cent of the chance to make points and make an exemption," Dudley Wyson pointed out. "How are we ever going to improve our positions?"
 Proponents of the plan take a different tack.
 "Instead of 144 players getting a chance to play and make money, Nicklaus said, "You've got 244—100 in the invitational and 144 in the satellite."
 "Besides," he said, "any criticism is premature. Nothing is finalized yet."
 Palmer was even stronger. "For God's sake, let's give this thing a chance," he said. "We had to earn our right to play," said veteran Lionel Hebert, "what's wrong with letting these young players earn their right to play?"

Southland Cleared, Owner Says

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP)—Jere-my Jacobs, president of Em-prise Corp. of Buffalo, N.Y., said Wednesday recent rulings by racing commissions in Ar-kansas, Florida and New Mex-ico have cleared his firm of any connection with organized crime as charged by Rep. Sam Steiger, R-Ariz.

The Arkansas Racing Com-mission, declaring that it had found no proof of a link between organized crime and Southland Racing Corp., voted Tuesday to grant a 114-day racing season for the firm's greyhound track at West Memphis. The commis-sion said, however, that the in-vestigation would continue.

Steiger has charged that Em-prise, a major stockholder in Southland, had done business with Mafia figures.

The Florida Racing Commis-sion said its investigation failed to produce any evidence of any nature to show any links be-tween Emprise and organized crime.

The New Mexico Racing Commission earlier this week said it found Emprise fit and qualified to operate a conces-sion at the Ruidoso Downs Race Track.

The Arizona Racing Commis-sion will meet June 2 to set rac-ing dates at six greyhound racks and one horse track partially owned by Emprise.

Judges Secretly Air Courtroom Disruptions

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—Chan-celler Murray O. Reed of Little Rock, president of the Arkansas Judicial Council, revealed Wednesday that a group of Ar-kansas judges met privately in Little Rock recently to discuss what to do if faced with disruptive courtroom activity.

The meeting was held at the suggestion of Circuit Court Judge Paul Wolfe of Fort Smith who said he "felt that the trial disruption activities which oc-curred at Chicago . . . may spread and that we may well find ourselves suddenly con-fronted with these or similar tactics."

Wolfe said he wanted the meeting to be "kept secret" so newsmen would not invoke the Freedom of Information Act and demand admittance. Wolfe said he wanted the meeting in private to avoid "stirring up talk in Arkansas."

Wood said in a letter to As-sociate Justice Lyle Brown of the Arkansas Supreme Court that the judges should avoid having an officially called meeting and "just informally pass the word around."

Reed said the judges took no official action at the meeting, but that a meeting was held several days later of representa-tives of the Executive Com-mittees of the Judicial Council and the Arkansas Bar Association. He said it was agreed at that meeting that a joint com-tee should be appointed to make a study and recommenda-tions dealing with misconduct of lawyers during trials and also with fair trial versus free press rights.

Reed said he appointed to the joint committee Circuit Court Judge William J. Kirby of Lit-tle Rock, Circuit Court Judge Henry W. Smith of Pine Bluff and Chancellor Terry Shell of Jonesboro. He said that Robert L. Jones Jr., of Fort Smith,

Hurricane Moving Into British Resort

MIAMI (AP)—Hurricane Alma bore down on the British resort island of Grand Cayman today as it pushed north-north-west toward Cuba.

The National Hurricane Cen-ter here urged residents of the tiny British tourist spot to pre-pare for dangerous tides and wind.

At midnight the center said Alma was moving at about eight miles per hour, its center esti-mated near Latitude 18.6 North, Longitude 81.6 West, or about 60 miles south-southwest of Grand Cayman and 500 miles south of Miami.

"If the center moves very close to Grand Cayman, the is-land could get five- to eight-foot tides," said Paul Hebert, fore-caster at the center.

"This storm could go any di-rection around Grand Cayman, or it could hit it on the nose. It's hard to predict."

Alma's highest winds were es-timated to be 75 miles an hour at the center, with squalls push-ing out as much as 200 miles to the north of the eye.

"Gale force winds in squalls should begin in central and western Cuba early today and reach into the Florida straits this morning," the center's mid-night advisory said.

Small boats across South Florida—from Palm Beach through the Keys—were advised to stay in port.

Alma is only the second Atlan-tic area storm in this century to reach hurricane force during the month of May. Hurricane season officially begins June 1.

Alma formed suddenly in the warm waters of the Western Caribbean—birthplace of some of this century's great hurri-canes—and reached hurricane force winds of 74 m.p.h. by late Wednesday afternoon.

Reed said he appointed to the joint committee Circuit Court Judge William J. Kirby of Lit-tle Rock, Circuit Court Judge Henry W. Smith of Pine Bluff and Chancellor Terry Shell of Jonesboro. He said that Robert L. Jones Jr., of Fort Smith, president of the Arkansas Bar Association, appointed three at-torneys to the committee, in-cluding William S. Arnold of Crossett, who is committee chairman.

Johnson Seeks Help to Recall Fulbright

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—Jim Johnson said Wednesday that he is soliciting money for his cam-paign to recall Sen. J. W. Ful-bright, D-Ark., through adver-tisements in newspapers in oth-er states.

Johnson said he had bought advertisements in four news-papers. They were the Los Angeles Times, the Wall Street Journal, the Shreveport Times and the Dallas Morning News.

Johnson is circulating peti-tions to put on the ballot in No-vember a proposed constitution-al amendment that would estab-lish a procedure to recall sena-tors and statewide elected offi-cials. If voters approve the amendment, the recall election would be held later.

The ad which appeared in the Los Angeles Times said, "Hit the Communists where it hurts. Recall Fulbright."

Johnson said that Fulbright is not just Arkansas' problem. "He is a national problem and we hope that all patriotic peo-ple will come forward to help us in this recall movement," he said.

Suggests Way to Combat Pollution

By TOM BRILEY
Associated Press Writer
PITTSBURGH (AP)—Take the oxygen out of a coal mine and dress miners like space-men, and the specter of fire, ex-plosion, black lung and acid wa-ter pollution can be banished, a Pittsburgh engineer says.

"We have shown that it will be practical to mine coal in a deep mine in an oxygen-free at-mosphere with miners wearing life support suits," Rice said Wednesday.

Rice, a chemical engineer and president of C. W. Rice Division of NUS Corp., said the next step in a federally funded program is to determine whether a miner can work efficiently while wear-ing an outfit vaguely resembling a space suit.

"There is not a single techni-cal obstacle," Rice said. "But there is the practical as-pect—whether a miner can function normally while sealed in a suit, helmet, gloves and boots, with an umbilical hose providing air for breathing, air conditioning and communica-tions."

The Pond Fork mine at Hol-den, W. Va., has tentatively been selected for the first test of whether miners can work effi-ciently in such garb.

Rice said initial studies showed not only that it was practical to operate an oxygen-free mine, but that it would be possible to recover methane, the naturally generated flammable gas that presents such a threat in other mines, as a side bene-fit.

"By sealing the mine, you would be able to capture the gas," Rice said. "You could re-pressurize and sell this gas."

Rice said preliminary figures indicate the capital costs for building an oxygen-free mine would be 10 to 12 per cent high-er than the cost of a convention-al mine, and the operating costs would be 2 to 4 per cent higher.

Lakers Indeed Found Way to Blow Chance

LOS ANGELES (AP)—"As I came down the court," Jerry West said sullenly, "this fan said, 'You guys will find a way to blow it again.'"

It was during one of the Los Angeles Lakers' championship playoff games against the New York Knickerbockers at the For-um. The Lakers were strug-gling against the visitors and West, usually impervious to the cheers and jeers of the fans heard this one very clearly.

And a few days later, the Lakers had, indeed, found an-other way to wind up second best in the race for the Na-tional Basketball Association crown. In the bedlam of New York's Madison Square Garden, the Knicks routed them 113-99 in that seventh and final game.

Now West, one week away from his 32nd birthday, was thinking about that debacle — and of still another season. In seven of his 10 years with the Lakers, they have been the NBA's bridesmaids in the title games.

"Maybe the fans feel badly that we lost," he said, "but they never know — there's no way for them to know — how badly the players feel. They just don't realize."

"I thought we were ready to play in that seventh game," West recalled. "We came up to it well. So I just don't know."

"Maybe you should disregard that game and the one we won so easily (the sixth one by a 135-113 score) in Los Angeles and think about what happened earlier in the series," he said. "We had a lot of chances to win and didn't."

One of the biggest chances was in the third game when West sank an incredible game-tying 55-foot bomb that sent more than 17,000 Laker fans — and the team itself — into a frenzy. That should have been enough to shake the Knicks' confidence and lift Los Angeles. But it wasn't. New York won 111-108 in overtime.

"We had so much trouble coming back from deficits," West said. In fact, the Lakers had more trouble holding onto leads. Several times the Knicks rallied from far behind to beat or at least strongly challenge.

"We did good things on cer-tain nights," West continued, "and I think we played interest-ing basketball all the way. But we weren't really that consist-ent."

"And then New York might be one of the most intelligent teams I have ever saw, both defensively and offensively. We

Fired Coach Blasts Iowa Setup

IOWA CITY, Iowa (AP)—The University of Iowa football squad, expressing support for ousted head coach Ray Nagel, were a team of extreme highs and terrible droughts. They weren't," he said.

West's 10th season was his finest. The 6-foot-3 guard led the NBA with a 31.2 scoring average — only the third back-court man in the 24-year history of the league to do so — and came back with virtually the same average for the Lakers' 18 playoff games.

Perhaps even more satisfying, though, was the fact that the usually injury-prone West missed just eight of 82 regular-season games and all but single-handedly carried the injury-riddled club through most of the year.

"I was lucky this year. I think it was the best year I ever had in many, many way, not just statistically but the fact we won despite all the injuries. More than anything else, that's the reason I want to play again."

"I've seen the best of every-thing," West said, "except one thing."

asked the university's Board in Control of Athletics late Wednesday night to reconsider its action in firing Nagel.

"We feel . . . Nagel and his staff have treated us most fairly in all respects, and therefore it is under him we wish to play football next fall," said the squad in a statement.

"Therefore," the statement said, "we respectfully demand the athletic board and the State Board of Regents review the de-cision to release coach Ray Na-gel."

The statement was released by recently elected 1970 cocap-tains Ray Manning and Dan McDonald. They said "a vast majority" of squad members had expressed "100 per cent support" for the statement, which was released without comment or elaboration.

The athletic board announced Tuesday it had fired Nagel and accepted the resignation of Ath-letic Director Forest Evashev-ski, both effective June 30.

The action culminated a long feud between Nagel and Eva-shevski, a former Hawkeye head coach who built Iowa into a national football power and produced two Rose Bowl cham-pion teams before taking over as athletic director in 1960.

Nagel told a news conference Wednesday he was "shocked and incensed" at the board's ac-tion, and lashed out at Evashevski and me board.

"I consider my relationship with my athletic director to have been an ugly relation-ship," Nagel said, citing several instances of what he called har-assment by Evashevski.

Nagel also questioned the competence of the athletic board, saying he believed it had made "a grave mistake" and charging it had not operated in the best interest of the univer-sity.

Evashevski said Wednesday he hated "to have the finger pointed at me alone for not being able to get along" and said the board's action was "well thought out."

Nagel's firing and Evashev-ski's resignation were the cul-mination of a four-month feud that reportedly grew out of a smoldering disagreement be-tween the two men over the con-duct of the Iowa football pro-gram since Nagel was named coach in 1966.

Mao Tse-tung Hasn't Changed High Beliefs

By JOHN RODERICK
Associated Press Writer
TOKYO (AP) — Mao Tse-tung has fought a hundred battles, but at 76 his apocalyptic vision of the world is undimmed. He surveys its violence and revolution and is happy.

In a rare 700-word statement distributed by Peking's New China News Agency Wednesday, Chinese Communism's leader spoke out on international issues for the first time since April 16, 1968, when he expressed support for American blacks. Mao invokes the Vietnam war, the U.S. intervention in Cambodia, "the raging flames of the revolutionary mass movement" in the United States, Japanese "militarism," the revolutionary struggles of the Arabs and the peoples of North America, Europe and Oceania. All, he says, "are developing vigorously."

Then he says: "The danger of world war still exists and the people of all countries must get prepared. But revolution is the main trend in the world today."

"This is Mao's meat. He reacts to it like a war horse, nostrils dilated, ears pricked up at the gunpowder smells and explosions of battle."

This near-ecstasy in the world's most famous surviving revolutionary has been kindled by the events in Cambodia and the riots, killings and mass demonstrations in the United States.

The Cambodian crisis was made for him. When the Cambodian parliament booted Prince Norodom Sihanouk out of his job on March 18, Mao had a windfall. An accident of time put the garrulous Cambodian leader in Peking. Mao adopted him as his own.

Sihanouk made common cause with the Communists of North Vietnam, Laos and South Vietnam. The Russians were caught flatfooted. Mao emerged as leader of Asian Communism. Moscow has not yet caught up.

Peking was the first to recognize Sihanouk's new government-in-exile, and Mao's statement expressed warm support for its political and military aims: the overthrow of the Lon Nol regime in Phnom Penh.

The Soviet Union has yet to recognize the Sihanouk government though, as Mao pointed out, 20 other nations did so in the first 10 days of its existence.

Mao's old eyes see American "imperialism slaughtering the white and black people," at home. He speaks of "Nixon's fascist atrocities" touching off "the raging flames of the revolutionary mass movement in the United States." Some of this is wishful thinking, some of it self-deception. Mainly it is an effort to persuade others that this is what is happening.

Whatever the situation, it gives him immense satisfaction. "U.S. imperialism, which looks like a huge monster, is in essence a paper tiger, now in the throes of its death-bed struggle," Mao says. This is a well worn theme.

For a paper tiger, the American monster is a long time a-dying: Mao predicted its last gasp 30 years ago.

Then, in a flight of style which sets him apart from the other, more prosaic Chinese leaders, Mao says U.S. imperialism no longer inspires fear.

"It is U.S. imperialism that fears the people of the world. It becomes panic-stricken at the mere rustle of leaves in the wind."

Mao unveils no new ideas, advances no solutions. His only advice—keep on fighting: "A weak

Karate Hold Puts Officer to Sleep

By BILL SIMMONS
Associated Press Writer
CAMDEN, Ark. (AP)—Trooper Jim B. King of Paris put a newsman almost to sleep in about two seconds Wednesday with a karate maneuver being taught in a new State Police conditioning program.

The technique is one of several passed on to 25 troopers who compose the first class under King, holder of a black belt in the Oriental art of self-defense.

Only those aspects of karate most valuable in disarming, subduing and controlling suspects are made a part of the six-week program, said King, who is teaching on special assignment.

The course at the Arkansas Law Enforcement Training Academy here includes strenuous morning and afternoon exercise sessions and long-distance running. The aim is better muscle tone, greater strength and stamina among the officers.

"These 25 men will be the best-conditioned men in the service," Col. Ralph Scott, director of the State Police, told reporters. "They will be hard, rugged individuals."

The emphasis on physical condition, and the introduction of some karate training, will enable policemen to do their job with a minimum amount of force, Scott said.

The theory is that an individual subdued by an officer's physical ability will be harmed less—as will the officer's image—than if the officer finds it necessary to club the suspect with a billy, slapper, flashlight or firearm.

The first class is made up of younger troopers, ranging in experience from 1½ years to four months, but subsequent classes will include veteran State Police officers.

The graduation of King's first group will be May 29. King, 30, a State Police officer for seven years, said he took up the study of karate after observing a session in Dallas, Tex.

"I saw these 15 and 16-year-old boys who weighed about 130 pounds and I said to myself that if I had to put one of them in a car I couldn't do it without using undue force," King said.

King took a karate course in Tulsa, Okla., winning the black belt in four years of training.

SENIOR CHOIR HONORS GRADUATES

The senior choir members of the Lonoke Baptist Church honored the 1970 graduates of Hope High School with a repeat Tuesday evening at 8 o'clock in the fellowship hall.

Churches represented were: Garrett Chapel, Bethel A.M.E. New Bethel, Mt. Pleasant, C.M.E., Mt. Zion C.M.E., BeBee C.M.E., and Lonoke.

Bible games were played, and the speaker was W.V. Rutherford, principal of Yerger Junior High School.

BIRTHDAY CELEBRATED
Mrs. Mary Bell Johnson was honored on her 78th birthday Wednesday, May 13, 1970, by her four daughters, she is the mother of twelve children, thirty-four grandchildren and twenty-one great-grandchildren.

Those present for the celebration were: Mrs. W.T. Keys, and son, Mrs. A.T. Denham, Mrs. Lem Muldrow, Rev. Thomas E. Cherry and family, S. H. Buchanan all of Hope; Mrs. M.L. Johnson of Omaha, Nebraska, Mrs. Annette Williams of Oklahoma City, Oklahoma.

After a delicious dinner, pictures were made. Mrs. Johnson received many beautiful gifts.

squeezed in with his State Police duties.

He applied the "sleeper," which is like a stranglehold, during a demonstration for newsmen.

Using his arm as a firm and well-placed vice, King interrupted the blood flow in a reporter's neck. As the newsman went limp, a gray haze and then blackness flooded into his mind.

In another demonstration, a reporter, holding a cocked pistol to the belly of one of King's trainees, attempted four times to pull the trigger before being disarmed. The trainee, in a split-second move, took the pistol away each time before the hammer clicked.

Other techniques concern the application of pressure to the joints of the body, creating such pain that a suspect would find it practically impossible to resist an officer taking advantage of the pressure points.

While the pain is intense, the subject would not suffer permanent damage, Scott said.

The conditioning and physical training program is one phase of the over-all education program conducted at the academy.

Trooper Charles Schafer of Forrest City said the conditioning program was the best diet plan he had found—his weight has dropped 16 pounds since he was enrolled.

The written material for the first two weeks along amounts to a stack about two inches thick.

The courses cover such topics as: riot control; courtroom procedures; community relations; juvenile matters; sex crimes; rules of evidence; procedures of arrest, search and seizure; methods of searching the scenes of crimes; arson investigations; the problem of narcotics and dangerous drugs; traffic law; firearms marksmanship; auto theft investigation; departmental rules and regulations.

Welfare Board Changes Policy on Children

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The state Welfare Board voted Wednesday to change the wording of its provision requiring school attendance of children of families that receive welfare assistance.

The board deleted wording that said the children must attend an "approved" school. The difficulty the Welfare Department encountered as a result of a boycott by Negro students of Carthage Public Schools led to the change.

The new provision requires only that there be attendance in a "school," whether public or private, and says nothing about whether it must be an "approved" school.

In the Carthage boycott, which ended in January, students attended makeshift schools set up in churches. The Welfare Department threatened to cut off assistance to families whose children participated in the boycott because the makeshift schools were not approved by the state.

In other action, the board voted to deny future payments to nursing homes for welfare patients who are transferred without approval.

The board also decided to refuse payment to nursing homes for patients in excess of the number for which a nursing home is licensed to care.

The vote came after an argument between Welfare Commissioner Len E. Blaylock and Ray Huckaby of Pine Bluff, a nursing home operator, over Blaylock's refusal to pay Huckaby for 13 patients transferred from a nursing home at Sparkman to one at England last March.

Blaylock has refused payment on grounds the transfers were not authorized. He also told the board that Huckaby was seeking payment for 76 patients while his nursing home at England was licensed for only 55.

Huckaby informed the board that he would report to it later on other nursing home opera-

Can't Stand to See U.S. Flag Burned

By PAUL SERAFINI
Associated Press Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — What moves construction workers to rage about peace demonstrators more than anything else is "when they burn American flags," says Ronnie Ambrose, a brawny 35-year-old ironworker. Ambrose was among the tens of thousands of workers who paraded beneath a swirling sea tors who are now paid by the Welfare Department for patients exceeding the number authorized.

Bill Brown, welfare nursing home supervisor, reported to the board that his inspection of the England nursing home showed it to be "completely filthy." Brown also said the home was supervised by only two attendants and they did not know "split beans from coffee."

of flags in lower Manhattan Wednesday to show support for the administration's Indochina policy.

"We don't care if they hold up peace symbols," he said of anti-war demonstrators. "But if they desecrate the American flag or hold up the Viet Cong flag, we're going to fight."

Flag-burners "are sicker than guys tearing up the campuses or rioting," said Ambrose, who lives in Jersey City, N.J.

"I saw the same thing when I was working in Boston," he said. "The hardhats beat them up and they even beat up some women."

Ambrose did not hesitate to add that he would "beat up" anyone he saw burning the flag publicly. He said, however, that the workers were ordered by their union leaders not to use violence during Wednesday's rally "even if we got killed by them counterdemonstrators."

The demonstrations were peaceful.

MAGNOLIA — Gregory Allen Martin, son of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Martin of Rt. 2 Hope, will be a candidate for the Bachelor of business administration degree from Southern State College at commencement in Wilkins Stadium here Friday, May 29.

Martin is a graduate of Hope High School and is a senior business major specializing in the field of management at Southern State, where he is a member of Tri C, civic and commerce club.

He has also been on the Dean's List and has been active in intramural basketball and football at Southern State.

Fraser and Woodcock in UAW Race

DETROIT (AP) — Douglas A. Fraser and Thomas Woodcock, both vice presidents of the UAW, (United Auto Workers Union) are close personal friends with a high regard for each other's ability.

Both dedicated zealots of the organized labor movement, they have long experience and the respect of the industry leaders, as well as their union colleagues. Fraser is 53, Woodcock 59.

The 25-member UAW executive board is expected to choose one of these two vice presidents Friday to succeed Walter P. Reuther, who had headed the 1.6 million-member UAW for 24 years before his death in a plane crash May 9.

The winner will serve until the next UAW convention in April, 1972. Woodcock and Fraser are both seasoned in past bargaining negotiations with the industry Big Three — General Motors, Ford and Chrysler.

So is Vice President Ken Bannan, head of the Ford Department, who might become a contender if an unexpected voting deadlock were to develop.

Whichever wins will face an almost immediate testing since three — year contracts with the Big Three expire next Sept. 14.

Under the union's constitution, Secretary-Treasurer Emil Mazey took over as acting president upon Reuther's death.

Fraser, who heads the Chrysler Department, has been involved in bargaining with that automaker since 1958 and in 1964 teamed with Reuther to win a pension of $400 a month at age 60 for a worker with 30 years' service.

Woodcock, who heads the General Motors team in taking on the world's largest industrial corporation since 1956.

Woodcock was born Feb. 15, 1911, at Providence, R.I. He came to Detroit with his wife, in 1926 and did some undergraduate work at Detroit City College, now Wayne State.

Moving up through the ranks of his local union, Woodcock attracted the attention of Reuther, who made him an administrative assistant in 1946.

In 1947 he won directorship of Region 1-D, encompassing western Michigan, which lifted him to executive board membership automatically. He became a vice president in 1955.

Fraser was born in Glasgow, Scotland, Dec. 18, 1916, and came to the United States at the age of 6, when his family settled in Detroit. He quickly was elected a steward in his local union, then advanced to chief steward, recording secretary and finally to president in 1943.

He was appointed an international representative and assigned to the Chrysler Department in 1947. In 1951 he became Reuther's administrative assistant, a post he held for eight years before being elected a co-director of Region 1-A on Detroit's East Side.

He was elevated as a member at-large to the executive board

Resignation Plans Denied by Hickel

By JOHN H. KAMT

A. Associated Press Writer WASHINGTON (AP) — Interior Secretary Walter J. Hickel, the first Cabinet officer to voice public doubt over the Nixon administration's policy toward young dissenters, is reported being urged to run again for the Alaska governorship.

The secretary, in denying the reports, said in a statement Tuesday, "I have no plans to leave the Nixon Cabinet. I intend to serve the President for as long as my services can be productive and of value on behalf of all Americans."

Washington sources had said some 40th state Republicans have attempted to pressure the former Alaska governor into resigning his federal post to take on a strong Democratic gubernatorial candidate.

The appeals to Hickel, sources said, were based on the argument that former Democratic Gov. William Egan could win the post this November because of a bitter GOP primary fight between incumbent Gov. Keith Miller and Congressman Howard W. Pollock.

Hickel defeated Egan in the 1966 election and backers believe he could unite Alaska Republicans and carry them to victory.

Hickel's concern with Nixon administration policy surfaced after U.S. troops entered Cambodia and the shooting deaths of four students at Kent State University.

In a letter, Hickel urged President Nixon to listen more attentively to youths who feel they are excluded from American political processes.

Hickel met face-to-face with the President for the first time since mailing the letter during a Cabinet meeting Tuesday. Neither White House nor Interior Department spokesman would acknowledge whether the letter was specifically discussed.

Hickel, however, issued a statement after the meeting, saying, "We examined the full spectrum of the nation's concerns, including our interest in the problems of youth."

The deadline for filing for the governorship is May 31.

Some Alaskans in Washington doubt that Hickel will leave his Cabinet post at this time when his prestige they feel is rising.

"I'm sure there's no pressure from the White House," one source said, "now that he's getting support from several other Cabinet members."

He referred to the letter in which Hickel implied criticism of administration "hard line" statements.

Gattin Gets Contract Renewal

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — In executive session here Tuesday night the Pulaski County School Board voted to extend the contract of Supt. Leroy M. Gattin until June 30, 1971.

There were two votes against extending Gattin's contract from the eight-member board, according to Dr. Robert E. Baker, board member. Seven of the eight board members were elected to the school board in the March elections.

Gattin had been hired by the old school board earlier this year after the school board Dr. Howard Heidbrink. Gattin held the same position last year, but had been fired by the board.

When Gattin was rehired, the old board voted to allow the contract before the election of new members.

Baker, who was secretary of the board at that time, refused to sign the contract.

The state Attorney General's office then ruled that while the contract was void because it had not been signed, Gattin was entitled to an extended contract.

Baker said he was one of the persons who voted against extending Gattin's contract Tuesday.

Panel Okays Big River Bill

WASHINGTON (AP) — A bill to increase water project authorization in a dozen river basins by $835 million was approved Tuesday by the Senate Public Works Committee.

The increases provided in the bill include $89 million for the Arkansas River, $18 million for the Ouachita River and $4 million for the White River.

The House has approved the bill.

Publication Of Juvenile Names
Is Found Best Of
All Deterrents

W e genuinely are interested in the youth of our city and wish to encourage them in every way possible to become good, solid citizens who will make a real contribution to the religious, cultural, educational and economic growth of our entire area.

It is this concern which embraces also those who have made foolish, youthful mistakes that has led us to establish a policy of not publishing the names and addresses of those apprehended by the police. During past months, however, juvenile crimes have increased so much in number and degree that it becomes necessary for us to explore all ways available to us to halt this growing threat.

An area-wide survey of juvenile crimes committed, and the most effective ways which cities found to combat them, was most revealing. As it turned out, the most effective deterrent was the daily newspaper listing the names of all juveniles charged by the police. In many cities, the drop in delinquencies as a result of printing names has been very dramatic.

Armed with these facts, we now feel that conditions in Jackson warrant The Clarion-Ledger taking whatever action is necessary to halt this unhealthy increase in delinquency. It is for this reason that we have changed our policy and will now print the name and address of every juvenile charged by law enforcement officials, if a felony is involved. Jackson (Miss.) Clarion-Ledger.

Mediocrity In Ample Supply

A recent help wanted advertisement in the Wall Street Journal for a "Mediocre Act." drew over 50 replies within a day after it was run. Placed as a gag by Chanko Associates, a New York employment agency, the ad announced:

"Disreputable company has recently acquired obscure widget firm as a tax loss and wishes to continue its unprofitable operation by hiring an inept, apathetic accountant. A disinterested attitude while working for this bewildered management is the key to securing this job. Position offers little and gives less, with probable reduction in your current earnings."

James Chanko, president of the agency, was "shocked" at the avalanche of replies, explaining that he dreamed up the ad because he was annoyed at so many ads using the same words, like "unlimited opportunity" and "top salary."

Most of the replies were from people who were simply curious but a few took the ad seriously, and even after being told it was phony asked that they be kept in mind should a legitimate opening of a similar kind occur. — Macon (Ga.) Telegraph

Purcell Says Faubus a Step Backward

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Atty. Gen. Joe Purcell, one of the two Democratic candidates to file for governor, said Wednesday that former Gov. Orval E. Faubus' announcement to seek another term indicated "the 'king-makers' that enjoyed strong political influence in Arkansas for more than 12 years are seeking to restore their political power in 1970."

Purcell said in a prepared statement that he was convinced that the people of Arkansas want to move forward and not backward to an era of government "that is as outdated as the horse and buggy and the steam locomotive."

Faubus announced Wednesday at a news conference that he would emerge from political retirement to seek the Democratic nomination for the governor's office he occupied from 1955 until 1967.

Purcell said the Faubus announcement "confirms that in 1970 there will be no variance from the tradition that only the Democratic party offers the people a wide variety of choice for governor."

$500 Million to Bolster Integration

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon asked Congress today for a special $500 million school desegregation fund with the bulk allocated for Southern school districts in the throes of eliminating dual systems.

A large portion of the money would also go to encourage voluntary desegregation in Northern districts with heavy concentrations of isolated minority group children. A smaller amount would be used to upgrade education in segregated schools.

The President's message provided details of the fund he first announced in his comprehensive message on school desegregation March 24.

The chief executive put to rest reports that only $150 million would actually be spent by schools in fiscal 1971.

"It is this administration's firm intention to spend these funds—$500 million in fiscal 1971 and $1 billion in fiscal 1972—in the years for which they are appropriated," he said.

This apparently reverses an earlier intention by the Budget Bureau to put a firm lid on the actual outflow from the Treasury. There was never any dispute, however, that the $500 million appropriation would be requested.

The President also offered what appeared to be his firmest endorsement so far of the educational value of integration.

"It is clear that racial isolation ordinarily has an adverse effect on education," he said. "Conversely, we also know that desegregation is vital to quality education."

The President has been under some pressure from administration education officials to speak out more firmly on the learning value of integration.

According to highly reliable sources, Education Commissioner James E. Allen Jr. telephoned the President in anger Wednesday morning after learning Budget officials listed outlays of only $150 million in fiscal 1971. J. Stanley Pottinger, HEW civil rights chief, placed a similar call to the White House.

Budget officials reportedly believed that while $500 million would be committed only $150 million could actually be spent by the districts during the academic year. Treasury withdrawals often lag behind appropriation commitments by many months.

Allen was assured by the President the Budget Bureau would be overruled and the schools allowed to spend as much of the $500 million as they could, the sources said.

Educators Rap Nixon's Black Policy

By JAMES PHILLIPS
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon's policy on the nation's blacks, already under fire in Congress, has come under another strong attack—this time from leading Negro educators.

The president of 15 predominantly Negro colleges met with the President for two hours Wednesday and asked for sweeping changes to eliminate what they called the "anger, outrage and frustration" of black people.

They presented Nixon with a six-point program to accomplish their aims, but White House press secretary Ronald L. Ziegler said the President made no promises.

It marked the third time this week the President has come under fire from Negro leaders for his racial policies.

The educators said they told the President they were particularly unhappy with "the tone of your administration as exemplified by the statements" of Vice President Spiro T. Agnew and Atty. Gen. John N. Mitchell.

The college heads and Ziegler reported Nixon had no comment on this, although he promised to consider their proposals.

The proposals asked Nixon to: —Reaffirm the federal government's resolve to protect the lives of black citizens in a nationwide television address.

—Include more Negroes in the formulation of domestic policies.

—Conduct a presidential conference as soon as possible with black college students.

—Issue executive orders embodying federal recommendations to all state and local law enforcement agencies on the use of guns for crowd control, and recommending specifically that no loaded guns be permitted on campuses.

—Review budget proposals for fiscal 1972 to increase funds for programs most responsive to improving educational institutions of Negroes.

—Appoint "a black deputy attorney general of unquestioned commitment to civil liberties to be responsible for investigations and recommendations for prosecutions of those responsible for the killing of unarmed citizens and to monitor the use of law

There Are a Lot of Things That People Could Do Without

By HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK (AP) — Things we could all do without: The day between Sunday and Tuesday.

Self-help books written by guys who need help themselves. Ball point pens that run dry while you're in the middle of writing a check.

Baseball pitchers who pose like statues in the park before every ball they throw.

Sitting next to a left-handed eater in the tourist section of a transcontinental plane.

Listening to a millionaire tell how he got wealthy by clean living, hard work keeping his eyes on the stars, his shoulder to the wheel, his nose to the grindstone, and both feet on the ground—while stealing a march on the other fellow.

Neckties wide as tablecloths. Trying to keep up an intelligent conversation with an infant who can only say "goo" and "da da da da da."

The smug and knowing smile a television news broadcaster gives after winding up his show with a little oddity that is supposed to indicate that the human race, after all, is just a bit wacky.

Speaker McCormack Will Call It Quits After Some 42 Years

By WILLIAM F. ARBOGAST
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — John W. McCormack's decision to retire after 42 years in Congress virtually assures the Speaker's chair he has held for nearly a decade will go to his assistant Carl Albert.

In announcing he will not seek another term this year in order to spend more time with his ailing wife, the 78-year-old Massachusetts Democrat laid the mantle of succession to the speakership on Albert, a 22-year veteran of the House.

With no visible opposition inside the Democratic party, the only potential block to the 62-year-old Oklahoman would be for Republicans to win control of the House in the fall elections. That possibility is considered unlikely, although the GOP holds out hope for reducing the 244-186 edge the Democrats now hold.

McCormack, a virtual prototype of the professional Boston Irish politician, surprised very few with his decision to call it a day in Congress when his term ends.

He has been under pressure from many of the younger Democrats in the House to step down, and several of the party's representatives had threatened to revolt against his leadership

Dinner at Home Costs No More But Price of Eating Out Goes Up

By JOHN M. PEARCE
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Dinner at home cost no more in April than in March but the price of eating out continued its way upward, the government says in a cheerless report on its battle against inflation.

"The White House, the administration, is disappointed," a spokesman said Wednesday after the Labor Department reported living costs rose at a 6 per cent annual rate last month. The increase meant it cost $13.40 to buy the goods $13.32 would purchase in March and marked the 16th month of the worst inflation since the Korean War.

It was a sharp disappointment to President Nixon's economic advisers, who have been saying prices were beginning to respond to the stiff prescription of anti-inflationary medicine they began administering early last year. But the administration continued to predict better times ahead. "We expect this reversal to be temporary," a White House spokesman said. "The projections are that prices will begin to show a decrease."

The raw increase for the month was six-tenths of one per cent, but when the Bureau of Labor Statistics made allowance for predictable seasonal changes it shrunk to five-tenths.

Stretched out to give an annual rate, the figures show the increase would be 6 per cent if the same rate of inflation continued for 12 months. Overall, the AFL-CIO took a dismal view of the latest price increases. "It is self-evident that the administration's anti-inflation program is just not working," a spokesman for the labor federation said. "Inflation is now the worst in 20 years with the sharpest unemployment jump in 10 years."

Unemployment this month jumped to 4.8 per cent from 4.4 per cent in April. It matched the sharpest increase in a decade and meant almost 4 million people are out of work, an increase of 300,000 for the month.

Negro, 16, Confesses in NAACP Death

SAVANNAH, Ga. (AP) — Police say a 16-year-old Negro has confessed to the pistol slaying of Negro civil rights leader James Floyd in an attempted holdup. Capt. Jim Weaver, chief of detectives for the Savannah Police Department, said Wednesday the youth had been charged with murder and a 17-year-old companion had been arrested as an accomplice. The companion also is black.

Police declined to identify either of the youths because of their ages.

Charges Flare in Cambodia Wrangle

By CARL P. LEUBSDORF
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield said today the United States is in danger of becoming involved in South Vietnamese territorial ambitions "in Laos, Cambodia and God knows where else."

"It appears to me that Mr. Thieu and Mr. Ky are doing what comes naturally," he said.

He made the remark when asked about reported statements by the two South Vietnamese leaders, President Nguyen Van Thieu and Vice President Nguyen Cao Ky, to the effect that Saigon's forces would remain in Cambodia after U.S. troops leave.

Asked whether he thought this reflected South Vietnam's traditional territorial interest in its neighbors, Mansfield replied "That's right. And as they do, we'll become involved" with advisers, logistics and other support.

Republican Leader Hugh Scott, meanwhile, reported "improving chances" of an accommodation on proposed curbs on U.S. activities in Cambodia, following a talk with Henry A. Kissinger, President Nixon's national security adviser.

"I have discussed the whole thing at length with Dr. Kissinger and I think the chances are improving," Scott said, declining to give details.

"The search for language continues," he said, adding "I wouldn't give up on it."

Mansfield, facing threats of a Republican filibuster against voting on the proposed curb, raised the possibility he would block action to provide funds for U.S. activities in Cambodia, including those for Southeast Asia—after June 30.

Asked if he would permit passage of the traditional continuing resolution needed to finance the government in the absence of appropriations action by Congress, Mansfield said "At an appropriate time we might give consideration to that under the right circumstances." He declined to elaborate.

There is virtually no chance of approval of the money bills by the start of the fiscal year on July 1. Several have passed the House but none has gone through the Senate.

Debate continued on the proposed curb on U.S. action in Cambodia.

The proposal "is a direct affront to the President of the United States," Sen. Robert J. Dole, R-Kan., said Wednesday. "We will be telling the world that the Congress of the United States has no faith in the foreign policy of the President."

"It is a new definition of insult if taking a man at his word constitutes some insult against the man or his office," responded Sen. Frank Church, D-Idaho, cosponsor of the bipartisan amendment to bar funds for retaining troops in Cambodia after June 30 and limiting aid and air power.

Black Group in Conference

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The attorney general's office said Wednesday that the state Game and Fish Commission could participate with the Army Corps of Engineers in the development of a recreational area in the St. Francis River basin.

Andrew H. Hulse, commission director, asked for the opinion as one of the routine requirements of the Army Engineers.

He made the remark when asked about reported statements by the two South Vietnamese leaders, President Nguyen Van Thieu and Vice President Nguyen Cao Ky, to the effect that Saigon's forces would remain in Cambodia after U.S. troops leave.

War Claims 217 Americans in Past Week

By GEORGE ESPER
Associated Press Writer

SAIGON (AP) — A total of 217 Americans were killed in action in the Vietnam war last week, the U.S. Command announced today. It was a 29 per cent increase over the total of the week before and the first time the weekly death toll had exceeded 200 in nine months.

Informed sources said 77 on the 217 Americans died on Cambodian battlefields.

The death toll was the highest for the Americans since the week of Aug. 10-16, when 244 Americans were killed in action.

The summary of casualties from the allied commands also reported 553 South Vietnamese troops and 3,737 North Vietnamese and Viet Cong killed last week, and 1,280 Americans and 1,470 South Vietnamese troops wounded.

Information was not immediately available on how many of these occurred in the operations in Cambodia, but the South Vietnamese command said enemy activity in Vietnam decreased 40 per cent last week. The week before, a total of 863 South Vietnamese troops had been reported killed, 35 per cent more than last week, while enemy casualties totaled 5,993 killed.

Today's summaries raised the official casualty totals for the war to 42,118 Americans killed, 278,006 Americans wounded, 639,888 North Vietnamese and Viet Cong killed and 106,841 South Vietnamese troops killed.

The U.S. Command in a separate communique said a total of 186 Americans have been killed and 677 wounded in operations in Cambodia since U.S. combat forces first crossed the border on April 29. South Vietnamese headquarters reported 591 government troops killed and 2,042 wounded in Cambodian operations, while the allies claimed 8,433 North Vietnamese and Viet Cong killed.

While only light contact was reported today on the allied fronts in Cambodia, in South Vietnam the enemy shelled 54 U.S. or South Vietnamese positions. It was the third night in a row that more than 50 bases or towns came under rocket and mortar attack in an enemy high point of activity timed to coincide with the anniversary of Ho Chi Minh's birth.

Initial reports said 13 Americans and at least 12 Vietnamese were wounded, while damage over-all was described as light.

In Cambodia, across the border from South Vietnam's central highlands, thousands of South Vietnamese infantrymen who began an operation Wednesday against the last of the known enemy sanctuaries in Cambodia continued to encounter little resistance.

South Vietnamese military headquarters said there had been no significant contact reported in the operation, about 125 miles northeast of Saigon. But South Vietnamese troops reported finding the bodies of 33 Cambodian civilians whom South Vietnamese field commanders said apparently had been killed by U.S. B-52 strikes, and nine civilians were reported wounded.

Another South Vietnamese force reported killing 39 North Vietnamese and Viet Cong in two clashes in southeastern Cambodia and seizing more than 100 tons of arms and ammunition. Eleven South Vietnamese were reported killed and 35 wounded.

Joint Paper Bill Gets Panel O.K.

WASHINGTON (AP) — A bill that would protect joint newspaper operations in more than 20 cities across the country has been approved by a House judiciary subcommittee.

The measure would exempt the papers from antitrust laws, but would make it tougher in the future for such operations to be started.

The present arrangement, designed to cut costs by merging printing and business operations, was threatened in a Tucson, Ariz., antitrust action. But the bill as passed by the subcommittee would allow the Tucson joint venture to continue, while protecting other similar operations. It would also wipe out pending treble damage suits in San Francisco and Tucson.

The attorney general would have to give his approval to any future joint operation under provisions added by the subcommittee. A stricter financial definition of failing newspapers was also added.

House approval is expected, though the full Judiciary Committee may present some opposition. The Senate has already passed a similar bill.

North's raise to two no-trump was doubtful. He did have a workable five-card club suit, but three of his seven high-card points were represented by jacks. May be his three nines were what encouraged him to bid.

South had no problem about going on to game. His 17 high-card points were gilded. West opened the queen of spades. The suit was continued and South had to win the third lead.

He continued with a low club and against normal defense would have probably gone down two tricks. He would let East win the first club with his queen. East would shift to a heart and South would try the heart finesse and wind up losing four spades, one heart and one club. We say probably, because South might have gone up with the ace of hearts and settled for a sure down one.

Things didn't go quite that way. West was some sort of expert and when South led that low club West started to think. His thoughts went something like this. "Either South or my partner holds the queen of clubs. If South holds it he is going to finesse and my king is doomed. Suppose East holds that queen of clubs plus two small ones. If I play low South will put in dummy's jack. My partner will take his queen and later on South will be able to run the rest of the club suit. On the other hand if I play the king, South will have to take his ace right away and the club suit will be dead."

After all that thought, West produced the king of clubs. The ace was played from dummy and when East dropped the queen, South had five club tricks and the rubber.

West had thought long, hard and very unfortunately.

What do you do now?

A—Pass. Your four hearts was some sort of slam try. Your partner has only bid five clubs and may well have two little diamonds or some other holding that makes for a poor slam contract.

TODAY'S QUESTION

Instead of bidding four clubs your partner has jumped to five clubs over your three no-trump. What do you do now?

Certifying Early Means Early Pay

Early certification by Hempstead County farmers in the voluntary farm programs will mean earlier program payments, according to H.B. Gilbert, chairman of the Hempstead County Agricultural Stabilization and as Mrs. May watches a Brownie become a junior Scout.

Conservation (ASC) committee.

Certification must be made by the disposition date(s) of: May 20 for wheat and barley and July 20 for corn and grain sorghum. When certification is made earlier, the certification date becomes the final farm disposition date.

Mr. Gilbert cautioned farmers against guesswork. He advised that they must know their exact acreage of feed grain, wheat, and cotton. They must also know the acreage diverted from wheat and feed grains, and that they have met their farms' conserving base requirements.

When a farmer certifies his compliance with the farm program provisions, the Hempstead County ASCS Office begins processing the papers so that the farmer will receive full payment as soon as possible after July 1. Target date for completion of 1970 farm program payments is July and August.

The chairman reminded farmers of the following major points involved in certifying they are in compliance with the farm programs:

Certification must be exact. Spot checks may be made at any time following certification. If an error is found, some or all of the program payments may be lost. After certification, adjustments cannot be made to bring acreage into compliance. Measurement Service is still available upon payment of cost of the service.

Finish planting before making certification, Mr. Gilbert said. Be sure the allotment, base, or permitted acreage has not been exceeded on all farms on which the farmer or his immediate family has an interest.

Enjoy Subtlety of Baked, Stuffed Pork Chops

By AILEEN CLAIRE, NEA Food Editor

Baked, stuffed pork chops make a very special dinner for guests or important family occasions.

When planning to stuff pork chops, buy double thick rib chops. Plan on one chop per person and ask the butcher to cut a pocket in the side of each. This is to hold a great apple-nut stuffing. For the stuffing, simply combine canned applesauce, chopped walnuts and an egg with seasoned bread cubes or prepared packaged stuffing. The applesauce provides moisture and a complementary tart apple flavor to the pork.

APPLE-NUT STUFFED PORK CHOPS
4 pork chops (1½ inches thick) with pocket

- 1 cup seasoned prepared bread cubes for stuffing
- 1 cup canned applesauce
- ½ cup chopped walnuts
- 1 egg
- 1 tablespoon melted butter or margarine
- 1 teaspoon salt
- ½ teaspoon pepper

Wipe chops with damp cloth. In small bowl, combine bread cubes, applesauce, walnuts and egg. Mix well, then let stand until thoroughly moistened. Stuff each chop with ½ cup stuffing. Arrange in baking pan. Brush with melted butter; sprinkle with salt and pepper. Bake in 350-degree oven 1 hour, 15 minutes (or until tender). Turn once during baking. Makes four servings.

College for Negroes View Integration

By DALA MCKINSEY

Associated Press Writer

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The presidents of two predominantly Negro Arkansas colleges feel their schools need to be integrated eventually, but for slightly different reasons.

Dr. Lawrence Davis, the president of Arkansas AM&N College at Pine Bluff, feels that "no college can hope to fulfill its destiny in society by remaining open only to one racial group. I don't think the future will accommodate an all-black college."

The Rev. R. J. Hampton, President of Short College in North Little Rock, says the school must have white students to provide a stronger financial base.

Hampton said in an interview, "We don't have the money to operate and until we can get white-vested interests, then we show, but they weren't included in the Burton segment."

"To get the Burtons, we only had to throw in a few fringe benefits like leasing a '747,'" cracked Morton. The show pays a top fee of $2,500 for guest stars, and the Burtons planned to donate their salaries to the Oxford University Theater.

"We're ready with a helluva show," enthused Lucille when she was introduced. "Are you?" The audience blew its professional cool and indicated it was.

The show began. I don't want to give away the plot, but it's no secret that it concerns Elizabeth's million-dollar-plus diamond. Lucy needs a plumber to repair the office faucet, see, and Richard escapes his fans at the Beverly Hills Hotel by posing as a—you guessed it.

So he fixes the faucet and leaves behind his overalls, in the pocket of which is you-know-what, and Lucy has to try it on and then can't get it off her finger.

When the three-camera filming came to an end, Lucille grabbed the mike and urged: "Let's hear it for our guest stars." She thanked the audience "for one of the most wonderful nights of my entire life."

Conscience Fund
In 1811, during Madison's administration, the "conscience fund" was started by an unknown person who sent an anonymous letter containing five dollars since he had, he claimed, defrauded the government of that sum. The government has received more than $500,000 from citizens in conscience money. This is applied to the general fund in the Treasury.

survive in jeopardy."

Shorter has operated for 84 years, Hampton said, because the school had white-vested interest, but that interest was for prompting segregation.

"Shorter was a place where you sent black students to keep them happy," Hampton said. With the trend toward integration, Hampton says the financial support once given Shorter by the white community has fallen off.

But Hampton feels that while Shorter needs white financial help, the Negro colleges is very important to Arkansas society. He explained that the history of Shorter "grows out of the church and out of protest 1-3 ess."

Shorter provides an identity and a source of pride for the Negro student that he cannot find in most other colleges, Hampton said.

Davis also agreed that a Negro college is functional.

"I think that you've got to have colleges that give emphasis to the needs of Negroes because of their background of deficient living — economic, social and political. The predominant white college can hardly be expected to revise their program to give primary emphasis to the black student," Davis said.

At AM&N special attention is given to the Negro student, who is described by Davis as coming from a social and political ghetto.

He said that AM&N has remedial courses in English, mathematics and reading to accommodate students that come from a poorer educational background. He put the blame for the student's inability to take the regular freshman courses, on the school districts, not the student.

The Pine Bluff School also has financial problems, Davis said. Davis, who has been the president of the college for 27 years, says 75 per cent of AM&N students come from homes where the total annual wage earned is $4,000 and under. Sixty per cent come from homes where there are four children in the family and there is less than $3,000 annual income.

"Ninety per cent of our students require financial aid," Davis said. This aid often comes in the form of letting the student work at the school and giving him credit on his tuition.

But the Negro college has another obstacle to overcome. College is a secure, limited society where the school regulates the student's life for four years, or more. In a predominantly Negro school, the students, who probably attended predominantly Negro public schools, is isolated from the rest of society. When the student graduates, he is thrust into competition with the white graduate for a job and a living.

Davis and Hampton, both said there were whites attending their schools though small in comparative numbers and that there were white faculty members. Both schools do not have exact totals of the number of white students and faculty.

Both administrators said the schools attempted to expose their students to "the larger world."

Davis said that AM&N has an internship program primarily in business, where the students study and learn to adjust to the business world.

"We condition our students," Hampton says, "which makes them more aggressive."

"We don't kid our students into think that they have equal facilities, that their library is equal to what they would find in a white school. They must compete or dig deeper," Hampton said.

In the Negro student's favor, Hampton said, is that when the Negro begins work his employer usually does not expect much from him and is pleasantly surprised when the student is able to keep up with the pace.

For the future, Hampton foresees more white students attending Shorter and more federal aid. He also said he thought that there will be a time when the state will give aid to private schools like Shorter.

Davis says more whites will attend AM&N when the stigma of attending a predominantly Negro college is removed.

He says that AM&N officials are working on a program to remove that stigma by including the Pine Bluff community in night school and cultural programs at the college.

For AM&N to continue to grow, Davis said that the school must find some area of uniqueness, which it does not have now. He said the school must develop a strong curriculum in some area that will make students want to attend AM&N. He mentioned agriculture and perhaps jazz.

Hampton says his school already has two areas of uniqueness — strong religion and political science departments.

Chymopapain Injection Replacing Disk Removal

By WAYNE G. BRANDSTADT, M.D.

Q—I have a herniated disk that is causing nerve damage. Can it be arrested? I wear a brace and am not allowed to lift anything heavy. My doctor says an operation may help but that I will always have back trouble. What do you think?

A—In certain cases, a ruptured disk, also called a slipped disk or herniated nucleus pulposus, can be cured by injecting it with chymopapain, a digestive enzyme derived from papaya. This treatment is replacing operative removal of the affected disk in many cases.

Q—I am a man who has always been stoop-shouldered but lately it is getting worse. Is this hereditary? Could it be the cause of my backache? Is there any cure for it?

A—This type of spinal curvature may be caused by weakened back muscles or such diseases as muscular dystrophy, osteitis deformans (Paget's disease) or ankylosing spondylitis (Marie-Strumpell's disease). It is not hereditary. It may be associated with backache. The treatment would depend on the cause.

Q—Is there any effective treatment for scoliosis?

A—For the treatment of this S-shaped curvature of the spine to be effective, it should be discovered early, usually in childhood, and promptly treated by the application of a body cast or corrective brace.

Q—What is spondylitis of a vertebral segment? Will it get worse in time?

A—This is a chronic rheu-

Bob Thomas at the Movies

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — It

started at a reception at the British consulate when Richard Burton shouted to Lucille Ball across a crowded room: "I love your show; I want to be on it."

It ended on Stage 20 at Paramount where Burton, Elizabeth Taylor and THE diamond co-starred with Lucille on the "Here's Lucy" show.

The home viewers won't be seeing it until Sept. 14 of thereabouts, when the new CBS season begins. But a favored few were privileged to observe the filming, including this reporter. I can report that Richard can handle situation-comedy lines with the skill of Danny Thomas and Elizabeth reveals herself as a baggy-pants comic.

Maybe baggy-pants isn't the right phrase for her. Especially since she was arrayed in an Edith Head gown when she performed her low comedy.

The crowd gathered early for the show. It was the kind of audience that actors hate to play to: their fellow professionals. They are inclined to sit on their hands while a yokel audience will supply the yodels and applause that require no "sweetening" from the laugh machine.

"Don't be afraid to laugh," advised Lucille's husband, Gary Morton. A former comic who acts as executive producer of "Here's Lucy," he conducts the warm-up, a tradition harking back to radio in which the audience is jolled before showtime.

Morton introduced notables in the crowd: the Jimmy Stewarts, the Henry Fondas, Jack Carter, Lloyd and Beau Bridges, etc. Desi Arnaz Jr. leaped out of the stands to introduce his steady date, Patty Duke. Desi and his sister Lucie are regulars in the
